Andy, Mary, and Danny,

Please allow this letter to be my two weeks' notice from Café Sam. My last shift will be Friday April 30th lunch. It has been such a pleasure working with everyone from the staff and management, to the customers. I have thoroughly enjoyed my time with everyone and have definitely seen myself grow as a person and also as an employee over the past four and a half years. Not only did I learn how to wait tables, I also learned how to bake, bartend, and perform managerial duties in my years at Café Sam. I hope that this letter reaches you in good regards, and that my resignation will not be seen as me not wanting to work with everyone, but as an opportunity for me to grow in my career.

Mary, I have seen you more than my mother for the past four years, and I hope that you keep in touch. Hey you may even call me every now and again if you need help with a shift. Thank you for always being there to talk to, help me through problems, and put up with my tantrums, even if they were provoked by you wanting a laugh. It has been such an enjoyable experience working with you, and learning how to do everything at the café, even though I never got down Andy's iced coffee☺. Oh and don't think I am not going to teach at least one person there how to tickle you.

Andy, even though you always say that you wouldn't have hired me if you had been the one to interview me, I think deep down inside you would have. Thank you for letting me grow into the woman I am, sitting me down if I needed a talking to, and provided a great place for me to work during my college years. It has been such a great experience working in the business that you have built. Thank you for being open to questions when I got in trouble. Keep up with the amazing website you created, and all the new things that are going on at the Café. If you ever need me to come in and whip the other waiters into cleaning shape, just let me know. Thank you very much for everything.

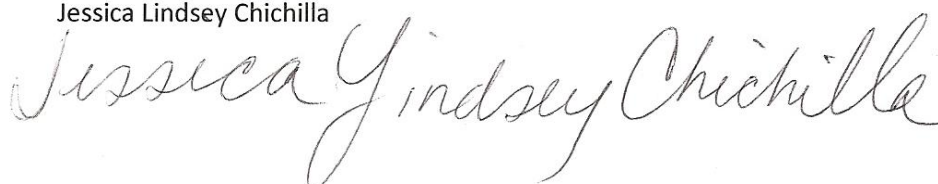

Danny, Thank you for always being open to talk to, and always having a positive attitude no matter what. It was a pleasure meeting your entire family, and please send them my regards and wishes. You have a great family and kids, and that says a lot about you and Tammy and the types of people you are. Even though you never let me into your sports brackets and such, it was fun bothering you when your teams lost☺. It was always nice working your shifts, and you create such a good atmosphere even when tensions are high. Please stay in touch too; you have my email and cell number.

Again, Thank you everyone for being there, for having such a nice place of business for me to work in, and for helping me grow into a respectable woman with a good work ethic. I hope nothing but the best for everyone including the back of the house staff and the waiters.

PS. Andy I will be looking at the website at least once a week so keep up with the good posts, and please please please don't forget about me. Café Sam will always be a part of who I am and I hope that the opposite is the same too.

Yours Sincerely,

Jessica Lindsey Chichilla
